Concept Note

The objective of the seminar is to celebrate and commemorate 75 years of independence and the glorious history of its people, culture and achievements. With the celebration of the Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav, the seminar looks to introduce our freedom fighters who sacrificed their lives for the cause of the nation with the present day citizens, mainly the students, research scholars and youths. It has given us the opportunity to remember the forgotten heroes of the national movement. The Indian independence movement was a gigantic movement with millions of people participating throughout the country. Unfortunately, the documentation of all the sections and contribution of the communities remains incomplete. Thus the contribution of many individuals who sacrificed their lives have not been analysed or acknowledged adequately. There is therefore, a strong need to revisit the Indian National Movement particularly the revolutionary nationalist movement. It is significant to locate and narrate the faded memories of the national movement against the foreign rule that would serve as a medium of source of inspiration and encouragement for the coming generations.

Keeping in view to discover , recognize the revolutionary nationalist movement of Bengal and the neighbouring regions the seminar wants to emphasize on the revolutionary nationalist leaders, participants and activities of Bengal and the near by areas of the Assam and North Eastern region. It equally wants to focus on the national movement in the northern part of Bengal and the participation of the communities namely the Rajbansis, Nepalis, and others in it. There were protests and resistance by the tea plantation workers mostly the Oraons, Mundas, Santals against the British rule and the peasants against the oppression of the colonial taxes. Furthermore, the involvement of the people of North Bengal , their sacrifices and contribution have not been recorded well. The seminar looks forward to remember and highlight the activities and sacrifices of the unsung heroes of the region.
